

Jeff Bragg – photos from pesticide exposure

The circular rings look exactly like the Organophosphate poisoning the paramedic referred to. All of my body is covered, except my face.

What do I look like?
Legs

Upper Body

Arms and back covered. The dark spot on lower left leg is where a ¼ inch lesion first started. My beltline could have chemical residue in it. It was from a worker and he wore the belt for thirty years. I wore it, with a second long sleeved Patagonia shirt underneath, until I started storage management. The leather could be harboring something, too, and now I just stopped wearing it as well. These are recent pictures and not the horror of how it has begun.
